CABARRUS MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

SCHOOL OF NURSING

CONCORD, N.C. 28025

DEDICATION

Often in life we neglect to stop and tell those very influential people in our lives how truly important they are. We, the Class of 1984, would like to take a moment to say, "Thank You," to Mrs. Alice Radcliffe, R.N. She has truly been an inspiration for us to keep going through all the times we thought we wouldn't make it. She shows sincere interest as well as guidance in helping us attain our goals. She expresses never-ending concern in our class and its activities. She always shares a warm smile and an encouraging word, finding something good to brighten even the worst day. To you, Mrs. Alice Radcliffe, we say Thank You in this very special way.

IN APPRECIATION

When we were just beginning
we had our fears
which was only natural
but even then we knew
that you were a very special friend.

Throughout the course
you have shown us affection
and have always been there
when we needed someone

Together we have shared laughter,
and the joys of learning
And through the time
We hope that we have returned to you
some of the understanding
you have unselfishly given to us.
We are forever grateful, Mrs. Anita Talbot and appreciate you more and more.

Mrs. Anita Talbot, Student Services Coordinator.

Now remember this is sterile.

Twas the night before clinical
When all through the dorm
Not a creature was stirring
In blue uniform.

White stockings hung by the
vent with care
In hopes that tomorrow
Would never get there.

The instructors were nestled
All snug in their beds
While visions of needled oranges
Danced in their heads.

In the dorm the clocks
rang with a clatter
The students sprang up
knowing the matter.

And what to their wandering minds seemed to appear
Syringes, vials and ampules so clear.

They spoke not a word
but went straight to the lab
And with sterile technique
Gave their first stab.

As fluorescent lights
fell on the nurse's notes
With lustrous pride
the students wrote.

And the students exclaimed
with their lively step Injections to all,
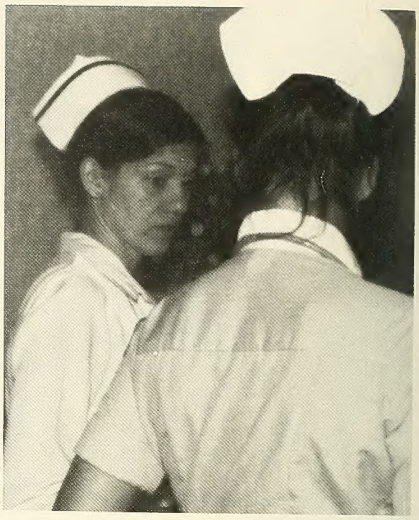
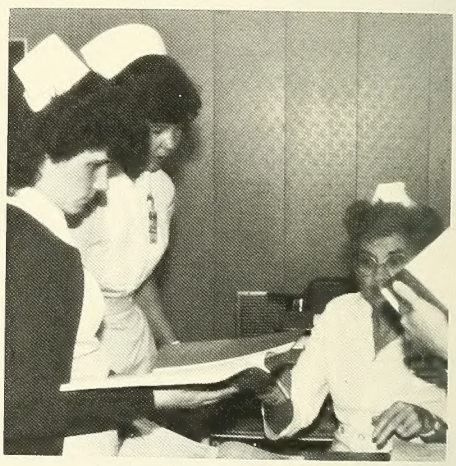
get the alcohol prep.



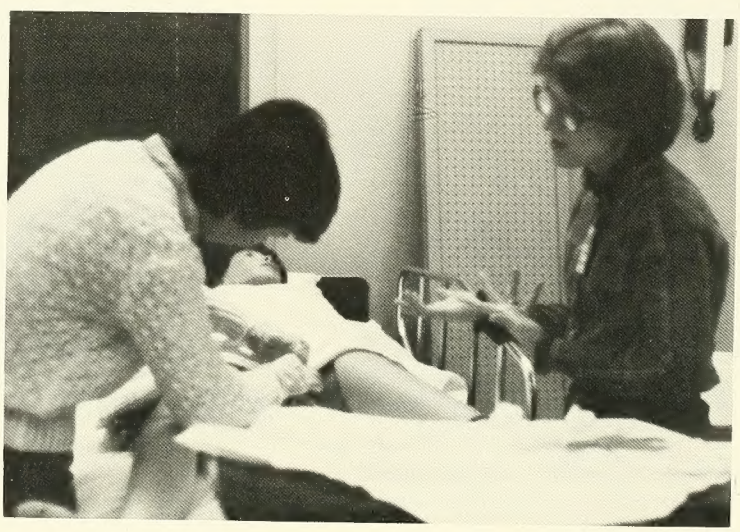
Is it Friday yet?

Um, Um, Alrighty!



Anecdotal Time!

Sir, I don't know where your Fruit of the Looms are!



Now just think about where it goes.

As we, the senior class of 1984, reflect on our experiences here at CMH School of Nursing, we express our many "Thanks." We have found that the true meaning of nursing goes hand-in-hand with dedication, hours of study, and lots of prayer. We have learned to set our goals high, and that the most satisfying goals aren't always the easiest to achieve. However, we could not have met these goals without the support of instructors, CMH staff, friends and most of all, our families. We have matured in many ways, emotionally, educationally, socially and spiritually.

As we each look towards our individual futures, we'd like to leave the recipe for this achievement:

3 cups of self-confidence
1 sprinkle of faith
2 dozen friendships
1 teaspoon of professionalism

Mix and stir these ingredients with adequate amounts of love and support to create a rewarding career and promising future. Serve with a gentle touch and a genuine smile.

CHRISTMAS QUEENS 1983

This year CMH School of Nursing was represented in area parades by two lovely young ladies. Laura Haynes—Sr. and Martha Strawn—Fr. rode in both the Concord and Kannapolis Christmas Parades. Members of both classes assisted in making plans and preparing posters for the cars. Ms. Haynes carried an arm bouquet of red carnations and Ms. Strawn carried a bouquet of red roses.

The Student Nurse's Association has been very active this year. Some of the SNA members modeled nurse's uniforms from Ginny's Uniforms during the district meeting of the North Carolina Nurse's Association held in the school auditorium. The members also modeled old student nurse uniforms from various schools which belonged to some of the NCNA members. The Business and Professional Women of Concord have sponsored activities for the students through SNA. Some of these activities include educational programs on hair styles and make-up, budgeting, etiquette, and fashions.

The CAP-N-PIN is more than just a book of pictures and names. It's a moment in history, a part of our lives when we devoted ourselves to a set goal in life that would bring us success. As the CAP-N-PIN went into publication, I realized that goals can be achieved. The achievement comes through self-discipline, teamwork, and most of all setting priorities. I would like to express my sincerest gratitude to the outstanding staff and advisors along with Ann Hyatt for making this book the success it is. A special thanks goes to Mr. Keith Cline for furnishing student pictures and formal shots, and also to Mr. Larry Sides, our representative from Inter-Collegiate Press, for his assistance in getting our yearbook published. As the 1984 CAP-N-PIN brings back memories, may they be full of joy and happiness and may all of you find success in your achieved goal.

Love,
Penny
